For state's 23 districts

Remap measure okayed by Senate Democrats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Democratic senators have used their majority ranks to approve 20-12 a controversial bill that draws new boundaries for the state's 23 congressional districts.

The vote Thursday represented a leadership victory for Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, who warded off a minor rebellion in his 21-senator caucus.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, was the only Democrat to leave ranks as the bill went to an uncertain fate in the House. He said he had been bombarded with about 3,000 letters and calls from constituents, angry because the bill puts Stark County into three separate districts. It does the same to Warren and Clark, and has 21 other counties sitting in more than one district.

Otherwise, the long partisan debate was reminiscent of many earlier occasions when one political party or another — mostly the Republicans in recent years — decided to reshape districts while they controlled both houses of the legislature.

Republicans did it in 1964 and again in 1968, with results that gave them a 14-9 margin in Ohio's congressional delegation. The edge now is down to 13-10, and Sen. Marigene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, sponsor of the pending bill, thinks Democrats can turn this around with the new map. Some Democrats expect to pick up four or five additional seats.

Sen. Sam Speck, D-20 New Concord, and others voiced expected cries of "gerrymandering" and predicted Ohioans will resent the Democratic handiwork at a time when redistricting isn't needed. The job theoretically is to be done every 10 years following the U.S. Census.

Noting that new districts will be drawn again in 1980, Speck argued that the current plan would stir "voter confusion." Many Ohioans will have to learn the identities of their congressmen all over again, he said.

Sen. Robert E. O'Shaughnessy, D-15 Columbus, accepted straight out the charge by Republicans that Democrats were redistricting only because they now have the votes in the Senate and House.

"The time to eat pumpkin pie is when you have pumpkin pie," O'Shaughnessy said, adding that his home county of Franklin, where Democrats outnumber Republicans, hasn't had a Democratic member of Congress since 1934.

A major target of the new plan is U.S. Rep. Samuel L. Devine of Columbus, whose district would be pulled from beneath him and made into an area encompassing core city Columbus and southern Franklin County, an envisioned Democratic stronghold.

Several other incumbent Republicans would be affected also, in some instances finding themselves living in the same district with another GOP congressman, or in strange territory where they haven't tested the political waters before.

House leaders declined to speculate as to the fate of the bill in that chamber.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, has never counted it as among his priorities this year, as Ocasek has. Party leaders and major Democratic bakers such as the Ohio AFL-CIO and the Ohio Education Association, likewise, have remained neutral on it.

Areas where major impact would be expected:

The 12th District, the eastern half of Franklin County and all of rural Delaware and Morrow counties, would be reshaped to include the southern half of Franklin and most of the City of Columbus. The Democratic target in the 12th is Devine, R-12 Ohio. The 15th, comprising the northern half of Franklin along with Delaware, Madison and Union counties, might be conceded to Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-15 Ohio, but Devine could run against him in the primary election next year.

The 11th District, which includes Ashtabula, most of Lake, Geauga, and Portage counties, and about half of Trumbull, would be restructured to pick up industrial areas in Trumbull. By putting all of Trumbull into the district, Democratic votes could be counted on in Warren, Niles and Girard. The incumbent, Rep. J. William Stanton, R-11 Ohio, is popular in these areas however, and could survive in the new districts, Democrats concede.

—The 2nd District, presently encompassing the western half of Hamilton County, would be changed so that it would include most of the City of Cincinnati, a move designed to strengthen U.S. Rep. Thomas A. Luken, D-2 Ohio, while the 1st District would be made up of outlying areas of the county, a concession to Rep. Willis D. Gradison Jr., R-3 Ohio.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, offered a floor amendment which would have left Hamilton as it is now, with a north-south line dividing it into western and eastern sections. He was voted down along party lines 21-11.

—The 4th District, embracing Hancock, Wyandot, Hardin, Allen, Auglaize, Shelby and Miami counties and parts of Logan and Crawford counties, would be carved up to give Democrats a shot at a new district, with no incumbent.

PREPARATIONS are now being made for the 1977 annual senior citizens program at the Ohio State Fair . . . Central Ohio Senior Citizens Day at the fair will be Saturday, August 20 . . .

Nominations for an outstanding senior citizen award and a community service award are now being accepted by the Fayette County Commission on Aging . . . One person from Fayette County, 60 years of age or older, will be presented the outstanding senior citizen award and one organization, agency, service club, business or news media from central Ohio area will receive the community service award at the state fair . . . An individual, under age 60, may also be nominated for the community service award based upon their overall contribution made to senior citizens . . .

Any group interested in making a nomination either for the outstanding senior citizens award or the community service award can obtain a nomination form from Julie Harris at the Fayette County Commission on Aging office, 733 Ohio 41-S . . . Award winners will be selected by the Fayette County Commission on Aging . . . Nominations must be received no later than July 15 . . . For any further information call 335-2159 . . .

ATHLETES AT Miami Trace and Washington Senior high schools should mark July 18 or 20 on their calendars depending on whether they are male or female . . . Those are the dates of the annual countywide physical examinations for the coming school year . . .

Girls in grades 9-12 who plan to participate in some type of school athletic activity this coming year should report to the Miami Trace High School gymnasium at 10:30 a.m. July 18 . . . Boys in grades 7-12 should report to the gym from 11 to 11:30 a.m. July 20 . . .

The physical examinations are free of charge and a physical is needed before a youth can participate in a school-sponsored athletic program . . . Physical cards should be picked up from the respective schools and completed prior to the physical, according to Richard Hill, athletic director at Miami Trace High School . . .

The free physicals are for students of both schools . . . Last year, the physicals were conducted at Washington Senior High School . . .

PLANNING to enter an exhibit in the 1977 Fayette County Fair? . . .

If so, entries for exhibits will be accepted from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday, July 15 and Saturday, July 16 at the Mahan Building on the Fayette County Fairgrounds . . .

All exhibitors must complete entry forms on one of the two days, according to Eddie Kirk, president of the county fair board . . .

Entries for the demolition derby will close July 18 . . .

STORM DAMAGE — A bolt of lightning apparently felled several large branches from a tree in the 700 block of Leesburg Avenue during Thursday night's thunderstorm. The falling limbs caused no reported damage, but temporarily blocked one lane of traffic. However lightning was listed as the cause of two house fires in Washington C.H. Thursday.

porarily blocked one lane of traffic. However lightning was listed as the cause of two house fires in Washington C.H. Thursday.

City receives nearly inch of rain

Two storm-related fires probed

A Thursday night thunderstorm dropped nearly an inch of rain on Washington C.H. in less than an hour and city firemen were forced to battle the downpour as well as two house fires.

Washington C.H. Fire Chief Maynard L. (Joe) Denen said that three fire reports were received in the middle of the storm at approximately 9 p.m. Thursday. He added that the weather conditions made it difficult to answer the calls.

All three fire calls were attributed to lightning which accompanied the storm.

First, firemen responded to an alarm at the Washington Lumber Co., 319 Broadway St. There was no fire and an electrical short possibly caused by lightning is believed to have caused the alarm to malfunction.

Six minutes after answering the lumber company alarm, firemen were dispatched to a house fire at 131 W. Oak St.

The house, owned by Willard Burchett of 3970 U.S. 22-E, and occupied by David Burchett, received an estimated $8,000 in damage.

Lightning apparently ran into the home through a television set igniting sawdust in the interior wall of the home. No injuries were reported.

Six minutes after receiving the report on the Oak Street fire, firemen received a house fire report at 903 S. Hinde St. The fire in the two-story frame house, owned by Jay E. Smith, was out by the time firemen arrived.

Again, lightning was blamed. A stray bolt reportedly ran into the house from electrical lines to a television and a fan. The only damage reported was to the appliances.

Houses were not the only things struck by lightning Thursday evening. A bolt connected with a large tree in the 700 block of Leesburg Avenue, dropping several large limbs on the street and sidewalk below. No injuries were reported.

The Fayette County Sheriff's Department received no reports on storm damage in the county Thursday and the Dayton Power and Light Co. said electrical service disruptions were minor.

George Winkle, manager of the Washington C.H. DP&L Co. office, reported that lightning did knock out electrical service to some area residents, but service was restored in a short time.

"It was nothing like last week," Winkle said referring to a wind and thunderstorm that whipped through the county last Thursday night.

Storms don't curb power use

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Scorching temperatures continue and the drought in Virginia has become so severe that Gov. Mills Godwin has declared a state of emergency.

Mills said Thursday that he was asking President Carter for a disaster area designation initially for 14 counties, mostly in the west-central and northern parts of the state, but as many as 42 of the state's 95 counties may eventually be involved.

Meanwhile, temperatures soared to record highs around the Southeast Thursday — including a sizzling 105 degrees in Birmingham, Ala. — and more of the same was expected today.

Other cities with record highs for the day included Raleigh, N.C., 100; Wilmington, N.C., 102; Richmond, Va., 103; and Roanoke, Va., 100.

Severe thunderstorms continued early this morning from the central Plains across the Ohio valley into the northern and mid-Atlantic states and over southern Florida.

Six tornadoes were reported Thursday — two in Colorado and one each in Iowa, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Florida. The Florida twister was near Zephyr Hills and damaged buildings and blew down trees.

In Ohio, thunderstorm winds took the roof off a building in Kent and trees were blown down in Cleveland, Van Wert, Andover and Orwell.

Temperature early this morning were generally in the 70s and low 80s from the southern Plains to the middle and south Atlantic coast.

Early morning temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 95 at Luke Air Force Base near Phoenix to 45 in Houlton, Maine.

The severe thunderstorms that swept much of Ohio Thursday night led to at least one death in the state.

A 28-year-old Ohio Power Co. employee was electrocuted Thursday night while working to repair lines which had been knocked down during the storm in Allen County.

The Allen County sheriff's office identified the man as Martin Nutter of Delphos. He came in contact with a 7,200-volt power line while doing repair work near in Delphos, deputies said.

"We are in a heat storm condition," a spokesman for Ohio Edison in Akron said as the summer's first heat wave entered its third wilting day.

What that means is power officials around Ohio are keeping one eye on the continuing record demands for electricity and the other on generating equipment already punished by a brutal winter.

Ohio Edison, Dayton Power & Light, Cincinnati Gas & Electric, Cleveland Electric Illuminating and Columbus & Southern Ohio Electric all set peak load records Wednesday. Most expected even heavier usage Thursday.

But power company officials were confident they could meet the demands because they can buy or borrow extra electricity if they need it.

"We are keeping our eyes on two things: The system, which we are watching for overloading, and our (generating) units, which have to work harder than ever before to produce the kilowatt hours," the Ohio Edison spokesman said.

"We have a couple units that are really not up to snuff. That is a hang-over from the winter conditions when we had to burn frozen coal and at that point had to use our system rather harshly, to put it mildly, to serve our customers."

He said Ohio Edison "bought power" because a couple of its generators were down for routine maintenance.

The company is "interconnected" through the Central Area Power Coordination (CAPCO) with Cleveland Electric Illuminating, Toledo Edison, Pennsylvania Power and Dusquesne Light.

Senate report rejected

DP&L blames federal controls for shortage

DAYTON, Ohio — The Dayton Power and Light Co. claims the Ohio Senate committee on energy and utilities "completely misses the target" in chastising the company for natural gas shortages last winter.

Utility company officials sought instead to place the blame on "excessive governmental regulation during the last 25 years which created this national shortage."

The Senate Energy and Public Utilities Committee on Thursday released its findings of its four-month investigation of natural gas shortages throughout the state.

The final report criticized the Dayton Power and Light Co. for not aggressively seeking emergency or other gas supplies even though the committee admitted that a recent state law and Public Utilities Commission of Ohio regulation made it virtually impossible to do so.

Officials of the Dayton Power and Light Co. testified throughout the hearings that government regulations coupled with the extremely cold weather were the primary causes of the crisis.

The report claimed the Dayton-based utility firm lacked leadership, foresight and effective public relations, as well as ample storage for natural gas supplies.

Dayton Power and Light Co. officials said "It's amazing that the report chastises DP&L."

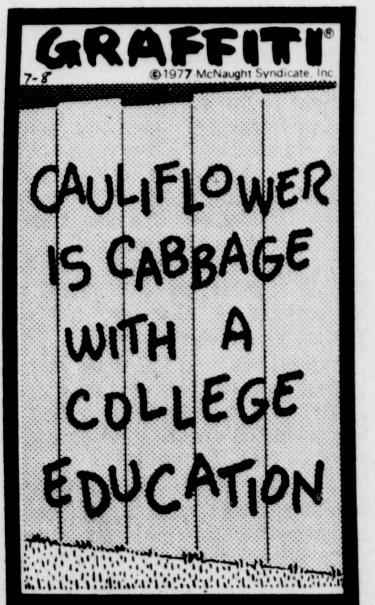

The company also added that "DP&L propane facilities saved thousands of jobs during the critical winter period, and to suggest that the money would have been better spent on storage and supply development would have meant no paychecks for many people last year."

The utility also claimed that by dealing exclusively with the Columbia Transmission Co. of Charleston, W.Va., the company saved money for consumers in its 24-county service area.

The Senate report suggested an investigation of the Columbia Gas System, parent firm to Columbia Transmission and Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc.

Columbia Gas also was sharply criticized in the report, but had no immediate response.

Freight train kills three young children

HUNTINGTON PARK, Calif. (AP) — It's a sight dreaded by every train engineer — kids on the tracks, heads down.

Larry Van Daele was pulling his 15-car freight toward its home yard after a daily run to Los Angeles harbor Thursday when he spotted four children, hand in hand, idly stepping from tie to tie, a Union Pacific spokesman said.

Slowly, they came toward him. He sounded his diesel's shrill whistle. But they kept coming.

He sounded the whistle again and threw on the emergency brake.

The train slowed, but only gradually. Brakeman Maurice Dieu leaped from the train, running and waving at the kids. The railroad said the freight was traveling at less than the 20 m.p.h. train yard speed limit.

"But the four of them, they were looking directly down at the ties," said Dieu.

He said he climbed onto the platform in front of the engine.

"I thought, well, maybe my voice might carry . . . I have no idea why they didn't hear the whistle."

Three of the children were killed on the rails as the train ground to a stop. The fourth was critically injured.

No one knows why they didn't move.

"The brakeman got out and waved and hollered and everything else," said Union Pacific spokesman John Forbes. "Have you ever heard a diesel whistle? It turns you blue."

But Van Daele "was pushing a thousand tons . . . He tried, but trains don't stop like automobiles," Forbes said.

"Before we identified them, we thought they might be handicapped," Forbes said of the children. "We thought they might be deaf."

Amanda Lack, 7; her 6-year-old brother Jason, 6; and Julie Kline, 10, were killed. Julie's 8-year-old sister Holly was listed in "extremely critical" condition at St. Francis Hospital after undergoing emergency surgery.

On their way home from a morning in the park on a hot summer day, they had decided to stop at the trainyard in this largely industrial suburb.

"They use it as a playground, unfortunately," Forbes said. "There are kids all over."

Forbes said Van Daele "saw their faces and he just couldn't understand why they didn't move. That engineer is damn near in shock."

"Their eyes were on the track bed," Forbes said. "It seems impossible. Just impossible."

Widow becomes winningest champion on lottery show

CLEVELAND (AP) — Fifty-one-year-old Jane Hughes has become the winningest champion in the Ohio Lottery Pot O' Gold show, taking $225,000 in three appearances on the weekly, televised program.

And the widow from Swanton gets to try again next week.

Mrs. Hughes won $80,000 Thursday night to add to her previous winnings. Her first big win was $95,000 on June 23 and she returned last week to pull in another $80,000.

Her reaction to setting a new record and winning all that money was "jellied panic," Mrs. Hughes said. "At this point I'm not sure of anything. I'm not sure of my own name."

Other Pot O' Gold winners were David Stecker, North Royalton, $8,500; Pauline Sackett, Lorain, $7,300; James Gavaghan, Cleveland, $7,700; Joseph Jenei Jr., Greentown, $8,500; and Bernard Danley, Canton, $8,100.

The TV bonus winners were Loretta Wozniak of Columbus, $50,000; Linda Gober, Cleveland, $10,000; and Ardellar Taylor, Cleveland, $5,000.

The numbers pulled in the weekly number drawing were 131, 768 and 28810.

Mrs. Hughes said she couldn't believe her triple win, and her daughter who was there with her "couldn't believe it either." She said her sister had teased her about getting her own television show and her brother had given her a lucky horseshoe ring to wear.

Mrs. Hughes raises Appaloosa horses and is vice president of the Appaloosa Youth Foundation. She assumed the post, which her husband had held, after his death four years ago.

A bookkeeper at Bettinger Farms in Swanton, Mrs. Hughes said her plans for the money are to "appreciate every bit of it" and to "put it in the bank."

Asked for advice on winning, she said, "just to do what hits you on the spur of the moment."

Deaths, Funerals

Clarence L. Campbell

Clarence L. Campbell, 92, of 1653 Lewis Road, died at 8:45 p.m. Thursday in Court House Manor Nursing Home where he had been a resident five months.

Born in Fayette County to one of Fayette County's earliest pioneer families, Leno and Ellen Hinkle Campbell, he resided at his homeplace until five months ago. He was a farmer, a member of the McNair Presbyterian Church, was very active in the former Knights of Pythias Lodge of Washington C.H. and various farm organizations. His wife, the former Clara B. Waters, died in June, 1975.

He is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Naomi Reif, 3647 Washington-Waterloo Road, Mrs. Howard (Mary Ellen) Dellinger, 114 Newberry St., and Mrs. Elmer Ted (Ruth) Burnett, 626 Clinton Ave.; three sons, George W. Campbell of 714 E. Temple St., Harry H. Campbell, 3802 Bush Road, and Joe D. Campbell, 2662 Hutchison-Yeoman Road; 11 grandchildren, 23 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Two brothers preceded him in death.

Services will be held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Gerald Wheat officiating. Burial will be in Washington Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home from 2 until 9 p.m. Sunday.

MRS. GRAHAM K. MILLS — Services for Mrs. June M. (Kimmy) Mills, 52, wife of Graham K. Mills of Reynoldsburg, were held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Loren H. Schneek of Reynoldsburg officiating. Mrs. Mills, a former employee of the Lazarus and J.C. Penney stores in Columbus, died Sunday.

Pallbearers for the burial in Highlawn Memory Gardens were Eddie Gault, James Ellars Jr., David Colburn, Dick Cubbage, Carl Evans and Martin Macintier.

TRAVIS RAY WILLIAMS — Committal services for Travis Ray Williams, infant son of Chester and Vicki Williams, 719 E. Paint St., were held at 11 a.m. Friday in the Fairview Cemetery.

The Rev. Howard Gray conducted the services under the direction of the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home in Jeffersonville.

The infant died at birth at 5 a.m. Tuesday in Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

HECTOR SHELTON HARRIS — Services for Hector Shelton Harris, 87, of 13084 Walnut St., Jeffersonville, were held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday in the Morrow-Huffman Funeral Home in Jeffersonville.

Mr. Harris, a retired employee of the Oliver Corp. in Springfield, died Sunday in his home.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Ulysses Jackson.

Pallbearers for the burial in Fairview Cemetery were Harry and Arthur Tyree, William and Robert Harris, Titus Nooks, and Ellsworth Burns.

Farm price decline helps hold down wholesale prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices fell six-tenths of one per cent in June, the biggest drop in nearly four years, the government reported today. But the good news was offset by a rise in the unemployment rate from 6.9 per cent to 7.1 per cent.

A big drop in farm prices led the price decline last month, an indication of an easing of inflationary pressures at the wholesale level.

Wholesale prices generally presage prices consumers pay and the effects of last month's decline could first show up at supermarket counters following several months of rapidly rising food prices.

The increase in the jobless rate was the first in four months, as the number of Americans without jobs in June rose by 210,000 to 7.9 million. Most of the increase occurred among adult women, whose jobless rate rose from 6.6 to 7.2 per cent.

Mine blast fatal to 4

ST. CHARLES, Va. (AP) — An explosion that killed four coal miners in this southwestern Virginia community was caused by methane gas concentrations above federal limits, authorities said early today.

"If you had an explosion there would have been a safety violation," said Frank Mann, supervisor of mining engineering for the Virginia district of the Federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration.

Mann made the comment shortly after the four miners were brought out of the P&P Coal Co. pit around 2 a.m.

The victims' widows stood around the mine entrance as the bodies were brought to the surface.

Janie Perkins of Jonesville, whose 31-year-old husband Bill was one of those killed, wept loudly during the 10 minutes it took rescuers to cover the charred bodies and transfer them from mine cars to ambulances.

The other victims were identified as Harold Johnson, 33, and Harold Wells, 40, both of St. Charles, and Danny Tester, 29, of Woodway.

Authorities said the four men died almost immediately from heat shock and carbon monoxide poisoning after the explosion racked the mine shortly after 10 a.m. Thursday.

Fourteen other miners who were working about 1,500 yards from the explosion escaped unharmed. The four victims had been sent into an abandoned section of the shaft to retrieve equipment.

Ohio lawmakers wrap up busy week

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A week that has seen Ohio lawmakers range far and wide from raw politics to a sensitive medical issue unfamiliar to the legislative forum culminates today with a rare Friday Senate session.

Senators decided to stay an extra day to work on a backlog of bills as the General Assembly moved toward a July 29 summer adjournment.

While majority Democrats in the Senate were redrawing the Ohio congressional district map and overriding three of Gov. James A. Rhodes' budget vetoes Thursday, House members voted 79-10 to legalize laetrile in the state.

But that was just a start. Before the 99-member House finished a three-hour session, a board was created to license master plumbers, auto lease dealers came under state regulation and loansharking was made a specific criminal offense.

The lawmakers also found time to approve a bill prohibiting nonhandicapped motorists from parking in locations reserved for the handicapped.

"When are we going to say 'enough'?" asked Rep. Sherrod Brown, D-61 Mansfield, in a futile argument against occupational licensing of more and more job categories; in this case the auto lease dealers.

Seconds after Brown sat down, the House approved 66-22 the bill, which also raises licensing fees for new and used car dealers. It was endorsed by the Ohio Automobile Dealers Association, who favored provisions establishing separate license requirements for new and used car dealers.

All of these House bills were sent to the Senate for another round of consideration. The Congressional redistricting bill, approved 20-12 with a single Democrat joining Republicans in opposition, went to the House, where its future is uncertain.

Sen. Robert D. Freeman, D-29 Canton, was the first Democrat to openly break ranks on the remap bill, but not the first to express grave reservations about a plan Republicans consider blatant gerrymandering.

Sponsored by Sen. Margirene Valiquette, D-11 Toledo, it seeks to reshape several congressional districts to get maximum mileage from Democrat areas and turnaround the 13-10 GOP edge in the congressional delegation.

Rhodes' line-item vetoes of three relatively minor sections of the state's $13 billion budget fell in straight party line votes. The Senate action completed a successful legislative override of the item, involving funds for public employee collective bargaining procedures, and Democratic-imposed restrictions on the Department of Natural Resources budget.

The laetrile issue proved troubling for some House members, despite the overwhelmingly favorable vote.

"We do our worst job in the legislature when we try to make decisions on very technical and medical matters that we are not experts in," observed Rep. Larry Christmas, D-67 Englewood.

Nobody on the floor disagreed with that. But the bill drew support from those who thought Ohioans should have freedom of choice despite the U.S. Food and Drug Administration ban on interstate sale of laetrile, which federal officials and other experts insist is not a cancer cure.

"If we're going to allow people to ride motorcycles without helmets and that sort of thing, then they ought to be allowed to use laetrile in this state," said Rep. Richard D. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati.

If the Senate approves, laetrile will be sold across the counter in Ohio without prescription, so long as the bottles contain the following notice:

"Amygdalin (laetrile) is not recommended by the Ohio State Medical Association for the treatment of cancer. Amygdalin may be harmful to your health."

Time lag probed in prison blaze of the medium-security prison.

The fire had started at least 13 minutes before the fire horn blared.

A five-man board of inquiry from the U.S. Bureau of Prisons was to convene today to investigate the time lag.

Authorities said the fire was caused by arson, but had no suspects in custody and did not know of any motive.

Billy O. Davis, associate warden, and Capt. Lagarto denied the contention of some inmates that the fire was caused by an electrical malfunction in the dormitory washroom.

"Initial findings indicate that the fire started in a field jacket hanging in the washroom area," Davis said. "Fire by accidental cause has been eliminated."

Davis said a preliminary investigation indicated that the fire spread rapidly to the ceiling of the dormitory, fanning heavy smoke. He said that inmates and prison staff members tried unsuccessfully to extinguish the fire.

The inmates also charge that guards refused to open exits from the dormitory immediately because they were more concerned about security than safety, causing delays in the evacuation.

Davis acknowledged a delay in opening the emergency exit door but denied that it was intentional.

"Inmates sounded the alarm at the unit and staff members on duty attempted to unlock the emergency room door upon seeing that fire had broken out in the vicinity of the entrance unit," Davis said. "However, the emergency exit door jammed due to the pressure of inmates trying to get out and the key broke in the door."

Risky operation separates twins supervised the operation that separated the two-month-old girls on June 23.

"If we had chosen to save one child, it would have been a relatively simple operation because there would have been plenty of tissue and plenty of skin," Randolph said Thursday after hospital officials released word of the operation.

The girls' mother asked that the family remain anonymous.

"One was not healthier than the other," Randolph said. "It is our judgment that separation, even at a greater risk, was kinder."

Now, even though he is caring for two very sick infants, Randolph said he "wouldn't go back" on "the tough ethical decision" he made with other physicians, clergymen, the family and others at Children's Hospital.

The girls, flown from Italy for the 10-hour operation, "laughed, smiled and cried independently" when they arrived, he said.

Before separation, the twins had two hearts, two sets of lungs, two stomachs, four arms, two heads and separate spines, Randolph said. Their intestinal tracts were intertwined, their diaphragm and liver were joined and they had two legs.

"We don't know whether they will live. They're still desperately ill," he said.

Randolph said if the twins survive, corrective surgery may be possible later to allow each to be outfitted with an artificial leg.

Randolph said his main concern is the "gaping wounds" in each child's torso that are covered with plastic. "They are still an indefinite way away from being healed," he said, adding the risk of infection was large.

Stocks show wide gains

NEW YORK (AP) —The stock market staged a broad advance today on the news of a sharp decline in the wholesale price index.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose more than a point in early trading.

Gainers outpaced losers by better than a 2-1 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

An hour before the opening the government reported that the wholesale price index fell 0.6 per cent in June, thanks to a big drop in farm and food prices.

It was the largest monthly decline recorded by the index in nearly four years.

Today's early volume leaders included Sony, unchanged at 9 in a 120,000-share block trade; Citicorp, up 1/4 at 28, and General Dynamics, ahead 3/4 at 61.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.78 to 909.51.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 4-3 margin on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 21.74 million shares, against 21.23 million Wednesday.

The NYSE's composite index picked up .17 to 54.84.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index climbed .73 to 120.60.

Power use

Computers check the system hourly, the spokesman said, and "if we need power, we buy it." The company also will buy power if a "neighbor" is producing it more cheaply. "He makes money and we save money."

Swapping electricity is "very" common during periods of heavy usage, and when a system shuts down partially for maintenance or repair.

Ohio Edison Tuesday bought as much as 1500 megawatts an hour. And for a while, Canadian electricity was buzzing through the lines enroute to Chicago, the spokesman said.

Peak load records Wednesday by Ohio power companies were: Ohio Edison, 3,880 megawatts at 3 p.m.; DP&L, 1,877 megawatts at 4 p.m.; CG&E, 2,741 megawatts at 5 p.m.; CEI, 3,278 megawatts between 1 and 2 p.m.; and C&SOE, 1,863 megawatts at 4 p.m.

Canton's Ohio Power recorded a peak load of 4,017 megawatts, slightly below its record output of 4,362 megawatts last January.

CLIP AND SAVE

Cows become missionaries

By ROBERT McEWEN
Associated Press Writer
MODESTO, Calif. (AP) — International charities which try to nourish people in starving nations often fight a losing battle, but one group has a method that comes close to providing a perpetual source of food.

When a Heifer Project International plane lands in an underdeveloped country, a herd of cows strolls down the ramp.

The theory is to provide unending sustenance, according to Bill Peck, director of Heifer's Pacific Central Regional Office here. He said farm machinery and equipment may break down, crops may fail, supplies of food and medicine may run out.

"But cows give milk until they die, provide offspring to keep up the supply and serve as catalysts around which community development can happen."

Heifer's 40-year-history abounds with examples that support Beck's claim. Cattle shipped to the Japanese island of Hokkaido in the early 1960s spawned that country's booming dairy industry, Beck said.

And on a smaller but no less dramatic level, 10 head of cattle flown to a mountain village near Pusan, Korea, several years ago have grown to a herd of 300, triggering construction of a milk products plant that revived the area's economy.

Now a $2.5 million-a-year operation that has sent 58,000 head into 96 countries, Heifer Project International grew out of one clergyman's haunting memory of starving Spanish civil war refugees.

Dan West, who died in 1970 at age 76, said he founded the organization because he could not shake the sight of a young girl dying of tuberculosis who might have been saved had she had enough milk.

That grim symbol of global hunger made him dedicate his life to providing as much of the world as possible with nature's most perfect food.

Besides the regional office here, West opened branches in Plymouth, Mass., Goshen, Ind., El Monte, Calif., and Heifer's world headquarters in Little Rock, Ark.

A national staff of about 20 administrators and "an army of volunteers" administer Heifer, Beck said. Revenue comes primarily from fundraising efforts of the mission boards of various churches, and donors have been generous.

Visiting ministers set for camp

Dr. Clyde Pinnell, superintendent of the Columbus South District of the United Methodist Church, will be the preacher at the 10:30 a.m. services Sunday, July 10, in the auditorium of the Lancaster United Methodist Camp Ground, 2151 W. Fair Ave., Lancaster.

In 1966, Dr. Pinnell was a delegate to the World Council on Methodism in London, England.

Since receiving his bachelor's degree from the United Seminary and an honorary doctorate from Ohio Northern University, he has served churches in Logan, Lithopolis-Obetz, Linworth-Bethel, Hillard, Cincinnati, Portsmouth and Athens.

The 7 p.m. vespers will be lead by Dr. Millard J. Miller, who, since his retirement in 1973 has been the part-time parish minister of Stonybrook United Methodist Church in Gahanna.

As appointed pastor of the Otterbein College Church, Westerville, Dr. Miller served for 22 years beginning in 1955. A graduate of Lebanon Valley College, he was elected superintendent of the Ohio Southeast Conference of the former E.U.B. Church in 1967. Following the merger with the Methodist Church, he was appointed superintendent of the Findlay District.

The Apostolic Clefs, winners of the Gospel Singing Contest sponsored jointly by the WCVO-FM radio station and the Ohio State Fair, will appear at 8 p.m. Saturday, July 9.

A piano and organ concert by Parry Norris and Ron Stebelton has been scheduled for 8 p.m. Saturday, July 16. For further information call John Medaugh, camp director, at 653-2119.

FAMED TRIO COMING—A night of gospel singing featuring the Couriers, a trio from Mechanicsburg, Pa., will be held at Logan Elm High School in Circleville on Tuesday, July 14, at 7:30 p.m. The event is sponsored by Circleville's Singing Gospelaires and will include a locally known group, the Gregg Street Gospel Hour Quartet. Pioneering their gospel sound in the northern U.S., the Couriers have recorded over 40 albums. The first to perform regularly in Canada, they have also traveled in all 50 states and over 45 foreign countries personally paying their own expenses to sing at mission stations. Tickets are available by calling the Singing Gospelaires in Circleville at 474-7679.

Local minister honored

A day of special worship to commemorate the services of Rev. Jerri Bomgardner, pastor of the First Church of God, 610 Harrison St., will be held Sunday, July 10.

Rev. Bomgardner became pastor of the church in 1968 and was ordained the following year.

She arrived in Washington C.H. in 1964, after seven years as a youth minister and counselor at the Church of God and a school teacher in Salina, Kansas. Upon her arrival, she was hired as a teacher at Staunton Elementary School and became principal there in 1968.

Since 1967, the reverend has also been treasurer of the Christian Campers Crusade.

Asked what the highlight of her ministry here has been, she said, "I hate to put material things above spiritual, but I would have to say building and completion of our new sanctuary."

Church members began worshiping in the new building July 4 last year.

A special singing presentation and a guest speaker will highlight the 11 a.m. service and a special music presentation will be featured at the 3 p.m. service. A reception at the church has been scheduled immediately following the afternoon worship. All area residents are cordially invited to attend.

Bake sale slated

A combination garage and bake sale will be held Saturday, July 9, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. in the Staunton Fellowship Hall, 4820 US 62-SW.

The combined sales are sponsored by the Loyal Helpers and Young Adults classes of the Staunton Methodist Church. The two groups will also be serving lunch and have scheduled other various activities.

For more information call Mrs. Marylou Hawkins at 335-4374.

Missionaries speak

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hawk will be speaking and showing slides at a program Sunday, July 10th, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, 301 E. East St.

They are home on furlough from the mission field in Honduras, but will be returning the first part of August. Being accepted as full-fledged missionaries in 1950, they have been on the mission field in Honduras operating a home for underprivileged boys.

Both Hawk and his wife, Twana are from Fayette County and known to many residents from their childhood days.

The public is invited to attend.

HOLIDAY CLEANUP — On July 5, the Country Cousins 4-H Club spent the morning picking up trash at the Deer Creek Beach parking lot and picnic area, and members gained new appreciation of the problems caused by careless littering. Those participating in the clean-up project were (First row — left to right) — Kim Chakeres, JoAnn Williamson, Becky Knecht and Tracy Sturgill. (Second row) — Lorie Holloway, Cynthia Cunningham, Joanie McCoy, Allison Cartwright and Debby Knecht. In the back is Angela Cartwright. Absent when the picture was taken were Carmen West and Lona Fridley. Advisors Mrs. Eddy McCoy, Mrs. Don Lange and Mrs. Jim Cunningham prepared a cookout and picnic lunch using some of the money the girls had earned from the calendar and stationery sales. The afternoon was spent swimming.

You can trifle with trifle

PARTY DESSERT — Fresh apricots and strawberries give lovely flavor to a well-designed version of the dessert called Trifle.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor
DEAR CECILY: At a dinner party recently there was a discussion about what should go into the dessert called Trifle. One of the guests said he didn't like it because "it was usually an excuse to make stale sponge cake into a soggy mess." However, I've tasted some delicious Trifles and would appreciate having a recipe that wasn't "a soggy mess!" — DESSERT FAN.

DEAR DESSERT FAN: There are many ways to make a decent Trifle. Some good recipes call for sponge cake layers, some for ladyfingers. Sometimes crumbled macaroons or slivered almonds go in. Sometimes a jam, jelly or preserve is used. The Trifle we like best are made with fruit. At this time of year you might try the following recipe calling for fresh apricots and strawberries. It's a dessert an acquaintance of ours enjoys serving because she says her guests have always approved of it. — C.B.

APRICOT BERRY TRIFLE
Two 3 3/4-ounce packages vanilla pudding mix
3 cups milk
1 cup heavy cream
4-ounce package ladyfingers
1/4 cup apricot preserves
2 pounds fresh apricots

1 pint strawberries
1/4 cup cream sherry
1/4 cup slivered blanched almonds
Cook the pudding mix according to package directions using the 3 cups of milk instead of the 4 cups the directions call for. Cool at room temperature, stirring often. Whip the cream until stiff; without washing the beater, beat the pudding until smooth; fold in cream; refrigerate while you attend to the next steps.
Sandwich each pair of ladyfingers together with the apricot preserves.
Dip the apricots into boiling water until the skins are loosened — 30 to 60 seconds. Remove the skins and pits and discard; slice the apricots. Rinse, hull and halve the strawberries.
Arrange half the ladyfingers in the bottom of a serving bowl (preferably glass and straight-sided) that is at least 2 1/2 quarts. Sprinkle with half the sherry. Top with half the apricots and strawberries. Sprinkle with half the almonds. Pour on half the pudding mixture. Repeat the layering. Chill at least 3 hours.
Garnish if you like, with additional apricots, strawberries, whipped cream and almonds.
Makes 10 to 12 servings.

Ceramic entries

Haines Circle hostess for UMW meeting

Colorful garden flowers decorated the tables Wednesday for the covered dish luncheon which preceded the July meeting of United Methodist Women of Grace United Methodist Church. Haines Circle was the hostess circle.
Mrs. Kenneth Warner, president, welcomed members and one guest, Mrs. Robert Wenties. She opened the meeting with "An Independence Day Prayer", by Helen Steiner Rice. Mrs. William Clarke played the piano for hymn singing. Mrs. C. L. Lewellen announced the fall rummage sale will be held Sept. 30 and Oct. 1.
The Rev. Cloyce Copley reviewed the book "Torture to Triumph in Southern Africa", by Louise Stack and Don Morton. This book gives a "bird's-eye view" of the Southern Africa situation today. It explains the oppression of the blacks under the apartheid system and states that out of the obstacles of oppression and economic rule emerges the triumph of the spirit of the people.
The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Copley.

Pretty shower given for Nancy L. Rapp

Mrs. Dale Thornton, Miss Diann Thornton and Miss Mary Jo Thornton were hostesses at a lovely bridal shower which was held Thursday evening July 7, at the Terrace Lounge in honor of Miss Nancy L. Rapp, bride-elect of Michael Reeves.

The U-shaped table was decorated with two bride dolls dressed in bridal satin which were given to the Thornton girls over 20 years ago, and a beautiful pink and white silk flower arrangement which was later given to Miss Rapp.

Three fun games were played with winners being: Mrs. David Baughn, Miss Marlene Braun, and Lynne Rapp, who in turn, gave their gifts to the honor guest.

Nancy graciously opened her wide array of gifts and then delicious refreshments were served.

Invited guests were: Mrs. Wilbur Rapp and Mrs. Jay Reeves, mothers of the couple, Miss Lynne Rapp and Mrs. Cheryl Royster, sisters of the couple, and Mrs. Omar Rapp and Mrs. Nile Walston, grandmothers of the bride-elect.

Also Mrs. Donald Walston, Mrs. David Baughn, Mrs. James Braun, Mrs. Loren Noble, Mrs. Will Braun, Mrs. Rex Bloomer, Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Alan Witherspoon, Mrs. Barry Hidy, Mrs. Jerry Nessell, Mrs. Sylvester Bookwalter, Mrs. Loren Neff and the Misses Marlene and Loretta Braun, Jolene and Beth Rapp, Jo and Lu Brown, Tami Welsh, Mylinda Beard and the three hostesses.

The couple will be married Saturday, August 6th in the Bloomingburg United Methodist Church.

SUCCULENT MELONS — Whether simple or dressed up, luscious melons are perfect summer eating and make sweet, healthful snacks.

Succulent summer fruits

There's hardly a more satisfying refresher on a sultry, summer day than a piece of ripe, fresh cantaloupe or watermelon.

Naturally sweet, juicy and calorie-low, these melons are in peak supply throughout the hot months.

Cantaloupe Baskets With Honey Dressing are a cinch to prepare. Quartered melons are filled with sliced strawberries, bananas or blueberries and topped with a smooth, low-calorie dressing of cottage cheese, fresh orange juice and only one tablespoon honey, making this a good choice for dieters.

Cantaloupes are nutritious, too. A half of a cantaloupe five inches in diameter provides 185 per cent of the daily recommended allowance of vitamin A and twice that of vitamin C — but contain a mere 82 Calories. They're also a source of a variety of minerals, including potassium.

The United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Association suggests you look for cantaloupes that are firm, of good weight with a smoothly rounded depressed scar at the stem end. Avoid melons with bruises or soft spots.

Don't expect to find ready-to-eat cantaloupes at the store. They must be kept at room temperature for a few days until they fully ripen and possess a delicate aroma. So make sure you have a supply on hand for immediate use. When ripe, refrigerate or serve right away.

Another "cool" fruit, watermelon, stars in an eye-appealing red and white dessert, Watermelon Ice 'N Ice Cream. This highly-satisfying dessert takes time to prepare, but it's easy and well worth the effort. It's also a very interesting way to serve this very popular melon.

Watermelon is surprisingly nutritious. A full slice (one inch thick and 10 inches in diameter) provides half the recommended dietary allowance (RDA) of vitamins A and C, as well as many other essential nutrients. And watermelon is a good food for dieters since this slice has only 111 Calories and offers two to four servings.

Watermelons are sold cut or whole. If cut, choose those with bright red flesh and black seeds. Whole, ripe melons are firm, well-shaped and fresh looking with an attractive waxy bloom. The lower side should be yellow. Refuse very hard melons with white or pale green on the underside. That means they're immature, and watermelons won't ripen off the vine. Whether cut or whole, watermelons can be stored at room temperature or refrigerated.

WATERMELON ICE 'N ICE CREAM
4 cups watermelon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 cups (1 pint) vanilla ice cream, slightly softened
To prepare watermelon juice, cut watermelon into cubes and rub through a strainer to remove seeds. Mix watermelon juice, sugar and salt in a medium bowl. Turn into a freezer tray, freeze until slightly frozen. Meanwhile, line the bottom of an 8-inch square pan with vanilla ice cream. Cover with aluminum foil and freeze until firm. Beat watermelon ice until smooth, but not melted. Pour over ice cream in cake pan; cover with foil and freeze until firm. To serve: let stand at room temperature 2 minutes; slice in squares and serve with watermelon balls if desired.

Makes: 8 servings.

CANTALOUPE BASKETS

1 cantaloupe, quartered and seeded
1 cup cut-up fresh fruit — sliced strawberries, bananas or blueberries
1/2 cup large curd creamed cottage cheese
1 tablespoon fresh orange juice
1 tablespoon honey
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1/4 teaspoon salt
Place cantaloupe quarters on a platter; spoon 1/4 cup of the fresh fruit in the well of each piece of cantaloupe. Place remaining ingredients in container of electric blender and cover and process until smooth. Spoon over cantaloupe and fruit.
Makes: 4 servings.

Retired Teachers plan picnic at Ireland cottage

The Fayette County Retired Teachers Association will hold a picnic at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 12, at the cottage of Dr. Dwight Ireland at Cedarhurst. Guests may come at 4 p.m. to enjoy a social hour preceding the meal. The Association will provide the meat and rolls and Dr. Ireland the coffee and tea.

Anyone who is a former teacher in any school system, is cordially invited to attend.

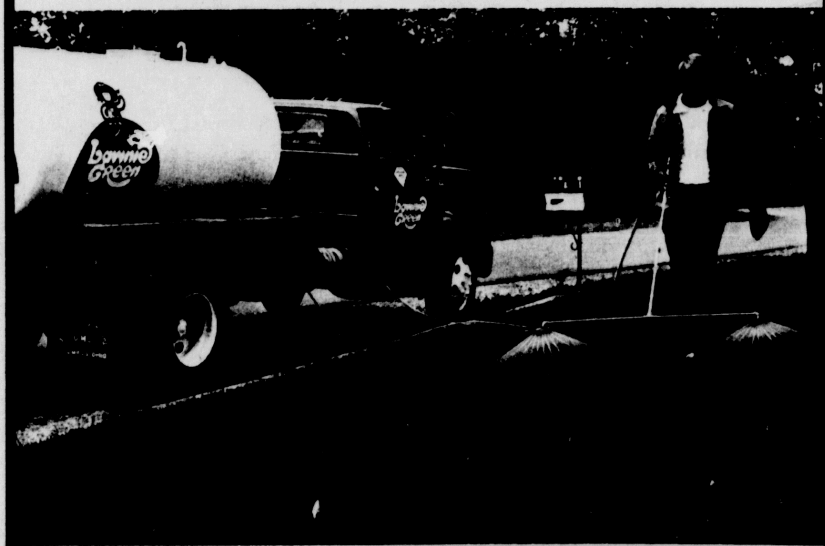

Those planning to attend may bring their lawn chair to relax in the beautiful surroundings.

Four local 4-H'ers in leadership program

Four Fayette County teenage 4-H members will participate in "Citizenship '77," leadership and citizenship programs at the National 4-H Center in Washington, D. C. this week.

The four local youths attending are Jane Kearney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kearney, White Road; Lisa Melvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Melvin, West Road, near Bloomingburg; Alan Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, White Road; and Cheryl Blue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Marcy, Cook-Yankee Road, near Mount Sterling. All are 1977 graduates of Miami Trace High School and are members of the Fayette County 4-H Junior Leadership Club.

The program is designed to help youth people ages 14 to 19 understand the structure and function of government, the country's heritage, and the part individuals of all ages will play in the nation's future.

Using the nation's capital as a "classroom," the program each week includes a day on Capitol Hill to meet members of Congress and see government in action; and field trips to historical and cultural sites, including the Kennedy Center, Arlington Cemetery, the National Cathedral, the Beltsville Agricultural Research Station, the Mall area, the White House, Mt. Vernon and Alexandria, Va. In seminar sessions at the National 4-H Center, the 4-H'ers will discuss elements of citizenship and ways to apply their skills and knowledge to 4-H program at home.

Each week the group will focus on a contemporary issue. The Ohio youth will consider and debate topics such as health for living and eye care, economic choices, citizenship values, and law in our lives.

"Citizenship '77" is conducted by the National 4-H Council on behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service of the state land-grant universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The trip fees are sponsored by the Fayette County Junior Leadership Club.

Larger hog herds could result in lower prices

WILMINGTON, Ohio — Pork producers have been lulled into a potentially bad economic situation, according to an agricultural economist at Wilmington College.

Dr. Donald Chafin says that if hog producers increase their herd numbers as they indicate they will, the nation could see its largest pig crop since 1971, with a resultant lowering of hog prices.

"The size of the 1971 pig crop results in a $25.30 per hundredweight price level for hogs in 1972," Chafin said.

"Farmers, looking at the $45 per hundredweight price that followed last winter's high death losses among hogs, with resultant reduced hog production, are expanding their herds to take advantage of the higher price.

"But, more hogs will lower the price per hundredweight. We would have a situation similar to 1972, when the price dropped because so many more hogs were produced."

Chafin urged hog farmers to "look at wheat prices." A bumper wheat crop has already resulted in depressed prices.

"The same thing could happen to hog prices," he explained.

Chafin said that latest U. S. Department of Agriculture reports indicate that hog farmers plan to increase the size of their breeding herds during the June to November quarter, and thus will produce more hogs for sale.

"If they do, prices will drop. They always have in similar situations and there is no reason to suppose they won't this time," he concluded.

Demos complete veto override

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — As expected, majority Senate Democrats have completed the legislature's override of three-line item vetoes in the $13 billion state budget bill by GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes.

The party line vote of 21-11 Thursday gave immediate effect to the vetoed sections and restored the 1977-1979 appropriations measure to the same form as when it left the General Assembly in late June.

Overridden were vetoes of sections that appropriated two amounts totaling about $1 million to implement a yet-to-be-enacted public employee collective bargaining bill, and budget language that makes the operating funds of the natural resources department subject to release by the Democrat-dominated state controlling board.

It was the second time this year Democrats have enacted legislation over Rhodes' objections, the first having come in late May after the governor disallowed portions of an election day voter registration bill.

Senators pass strip mine bill

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Senators added their approval Thursday to a House bill which will enable the state to begin restoring about 370,000 acres of land ravaged by strip mining before Ohio enacted its 1972 reclamation law.

Sen. Kinsey Milleson, D-30 Freeport, who sponsored the bill in the Senate, noted that beginning July 1, the state severance tax on coal and other minerals will be earmarked for projects laid out by the natural resources department.

Under the bill, the state can restore privately owned lands if a determination is made that a project will benefit the general public—such as eliminating a source of pollution.

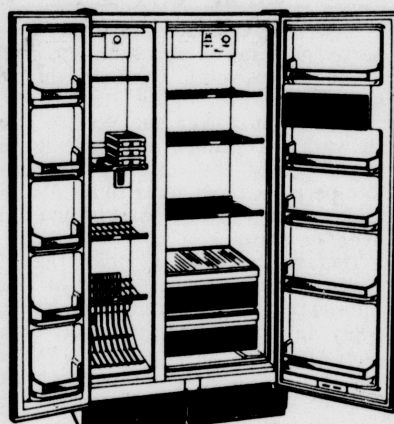

Also under the bill, which returned to the House for consideration of minor Senate changes, the state may purchase land, reclaim it, and sell the improved property.

Jaycees to supply workers for Little League project

The Washington C.H. Jaycee chapter has unanimously voted to furnish manpower to the Washington C.H. Rotary Club in the construction of a new Little League complex on Lewis Street.

Construction on the two diamond Little League complex is scheduled to begin next week.

In other matters during the regular business meeting, Rob Bishop, employed as a technician at Yeoman Radio and TV, was inducted as a new member. He was sponsored by Gary Johnson.

Johnson reported that 14 Fayette County youths will be competing in the Ohio Jaycees state junior champ track meet on July 15 and 16 at Mount Union College, Alliance, Ohio. Those participating will be Frank Dunn, Dean Faris, Troy McDonald, Lonnie Hixon, Cassandra Delay, Stacey Stockwell, Justin Rummer, Molly Hurley, Kimberly McCane, Jerry Baxter, Mike Bennett, Vicki Bennett, Randy Boyer and Benita Allen.

Dale Butler reported on the annual Fourth of July project and thanked businesses, clubs and individuals for their participation in the community effort.

A report on the Jeffersonville Jaycee chapter's junior swimming tournament was presented by Bob Steele. He said the swim meet is open to all Fayette County youths, ages 8-18. The event will be held at the Jeffersonville Swim Club pool on Sunday, July 17. For additional information and registration blanks, contact Steele at 426-6427.

The next Jaycee paper drive will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. July 16 at the Seaway parking lot. Residents are urged to bring old newspapers, catalogs, and magazines to the collection site.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Cloudiness and thundershowers were expected to hold temperatures down a little in the northern two thirds of Ohio today, but cooler, dryer air is not expected in the state until tomorrow.

High temperatures today were expected to be in the mid 80s in the north to the low 90s south. Lows tonight will be in the mid 60s to low 70s.

The National Weather Service says showers will diminish and clearing will begin during the day on Saturday. Temperatures will lower to mostly low and mid 80s as less humid air spreads over the state.

Temperatures were near the 70-degree mark in most areas of Ohio Thursday night. Severe thunderstorms early in the evening caused some damage in the northeast area. Funnel clouds were sighted, and one-inch hail fell in the Cleveland area. Wind damage was reported in Cuyahoga and Ashtabula counties.

The extended outlook for Ohio calls for fair weather Sunday and Monday and a chance of showers Tuesday. Highs will be in the 70s Sunday and in the 80s Monday and Tuesday. Lows in the upper 50s to 60s.

Today women constitute more than 40 per cent of the U.S. labor force, yet only 4.7 per cent of the nation's lawyers and only 3.4 per cent of the judges in the State Court system are women, according to the Community Survey on the Status of Women done by the Population Institute.

4-H Roundup

The first of a series of 4-H Day Camps will begin Monday, July 11 for Washington C. H. youths, ages 8 through 13. The camps are sponsored by the Fayette County Extension Service 4-H program, with counselors provided by the Community Action Commission program.

The daily schedule will include many activities and campers will be provided with free noon meals without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. Recreation will range from softball to hot potato and the various crafts will include seed plantings, decoupage and newspaper mats. Also surprise movies or speakers are planned daily and the 4-H program will consist of bicycle and food clinics.

Andrew Young eyes talk show

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Andrew Young, noted for his controversial statements, may appear on a weekly half-hour talk show dealing with the United Nations or other foreign policy issues.

Producers David Garth and Arnold Michaelis have discussed the idea for the show with Young and others in the U.S. United Nations mission, a mission press officer said, and are now offering it to TV outlets. The last step would be clearance from the White House for Young's involvement.

One of Young's associates said Young would be "willing to go along with it if they (the producers) can work it out."

Kroger reports earnings rise

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Kroger Co. reported a 10.8 per cent increase in sales and a 48.8 per cent increase in earnings for the second quarter of 1977.

Chairman James P. Herring said sales for the supermarket chain for the 12 weeks ending June 18 were $1.51 billion, up $146 million over sales of $1.36 billion for the same quarter of 1976.

Net earnings were $15.4 million or $1.14 a share, compared to $10.4 million or 77 cents a share in 1976.

No ransom paid for portrait

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A hungry thief with an appetite for Kentucky Fried Chicken telephoned one of the fast-food chain's outlets here, demanding 15 buckets of chicken for the safe return of a portrait of the franchise's founder, Col. Harlan Sanders.

The picture was missing, but employees said no to the demand.

TWO INJURED — Two Greenfield men were injured when their car (pictured here) struck a road sign, spun around and slammed into a utility pole along Ohio 41-S about a half mile north of Ghormley Road around 2:30 a.m. Friday. The driver, Everett L. Walker Jr., 28, and his passenger, James W. Walker, 20, both of Greenfield, were treated at the Greenfield Municipal Hospital and later released. The elder Walker failed to make a right curve in the road and drove off the left side striking the road sign. Fayette County Sheriff's Deputy D.L. Cox, shown here checking the damage, listed the cause of the accident as excessive speed and cited the driver for reckless operation.

On Ohio 41-S near Ghormley Road

Greenfield men hurt in crash

Two Greenfield residents were injured in a single car accident early Friday morning on Ohio 41-S about a half mile north of Ghormley Road, according to the Fayette County Sheriff's Department.

Everett L. Walker Jr., 28, the driver, and James W. Walker, 20, both of Greenfield, were taken to the Greenfield Municipal Hospital by the Greenfield Area Life Squad about 2:30 a.m. after their car spun into a utility pole. They were treated and later released.

The elder Walker failed to negotiate a right curve on Ohio 41-S, according to the sheriff's department report, and drove his car off the left side striking a road sign. The vehicle swung around on impact and the left rear slammed into a utility pole ripping off the car's back end. Everett Walker Jr., was partially thrown from the vehicle.

The report listed the cause of the accident as due to excessive speed, stating the pole was over 300 feet from the road and the car came to rest 189 feet after colliding with the pole. The driver was cited for reckless operation by sheriff's deputies.

Two Fayette County residents claimed injuries in a two-car collision on U.S. 22-E at Allen Avenue in New Holland Thursday night, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

Neither Dwight A. Taylor, 76, New Holland, driver of one car, nor Courtney W. Hines, 10, of Sabina, a passenger in the other car were treated at the time of the accident.

Taylor, who was eastbound on U.S. 22, attempted to make a left turn onto Allen Avenue and collided with a westbound car, driven by Audrey M. Hines, 28, of Sabina, the sheriff's report stated. Both cars were severely damaged. Taylor was cited for failure to yield.

In another accident Thursday afternoon, one car was severely damaged and another moderately damaged following a collision on U.S. 22 at Fairview Avenue in Union Township, according to Fayette County sheriff's deputies.

Ricky A. Lyons, 20, of 107 Water St., was cited by sheriff's deputies for failure to yield and no operator's license after he failed to stop for a stop sign on a Fairview Avenue at U.S. 22 and struck another car that was eastbound on U.S. 22.

Neither Lyons nor the other driver,

Charlotte Gregg, 68, of 445 Carolyn Road, were injured. Lyons told the investigating deputy the brakes on his truck malfunctioned. However, Sheriff's Sgt. William Crooks noted on his report that the brakes appeared normal when checked during the investigation.

Only slight damage resulted in another minor accident Thursday

After gas station incident

Petty theft suspects arrested by deputies

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson reported that two Proctorville youths were arrested early Friday morning on charges of petty theft.

Sheriff Thompson said Raymond D. Perdue, 19, and Bobby L. Nash, 18, both of Proctorville, were charged after allegedly obtaining $5 worth of gasoline from the Omega service station on U.S. 35-NW at I-71 and driving off without paying.

After obtaining a vehicle description from the service station's attendant, Robert Perry, of Sabina, Deputy Donald L. Cox with assistance from Washington C.H. police officers and Ohio Highway Patrol troopers stopped the vehicle on U.S. 35 at the Palmer Road intersection and arrested Perdue and Nash.

The two youths are currently incarcerated in the Fayette County jail under $1,000 bond awaiting a preliminary hearing in Washington C.H. Municipal Court, Sheriff Thompson said.

Sheriff's deputies also reported another larceny of a house under construction on Post Road between 6 p.m. and 7 p.m. Thursday.

Someone forced open the rear double doors, which were boarded shut, according to the report filed by the owner, Rudy E. LeBeau, and took two boxes of spouting elbows and a 100-foot tape measure. The tape measure was valued at $30.

In one other incident, Richard C. Alexander, 165 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, reported to Fayette night, according to Washington C. H. police officers, at the intersection of S. Elm Street and Washington Avenue. A car, driven by Kimberly J. Mongold, 19, of 201 Buckeye Road, rolled back into another car, driven by Kathy B. Parks, 24, of 3860 U.S. 62-NE, about 9 p.m. after Miss Mongold stepped out of her car to tell Miss Parks there was a stalled car ahead.

County sheriff's deputies that sometime between 8 p.m. Wednesday and 7 a.m. Thursday someone shot his registered Hereford cow in the left eye. The cow had been grazing in a field along Greenfield-Sabina Road. The animal was ready to give birth to the report stated.

Prisoners transferred

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Sixteen women prisoners from the Ohio Reformatory for Women at Marysville were transferred to the old Ohio Penitentiary Thursday night.

It is the first time since at least 1916 that women have been housed in the century-old prison.

The women participated in a disturbance the night before at the facility north of here and continued to pound on doors while confined to rooms Thursday.

Joseph Ashley, a spokesman for the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction, said he was uncertain how long the women would remain confined in "L" block of the old prison.

The women were to have no contact with the men jailed there, Ashley said.

Local instructor attends conference

Registered Nurse Karen Fraley, an instructor for the Fayette Association for Childbirth Education, recently attended the International Childbirth Education Association's regional conference in Indianapolis, Ind.

The three-day conference entitled, "Parenting: Awareness and Commitment," facilitated the exchange of new knowledge, information, and ideas about prepared childbirth and effective parenting.

Mrs. Fraley, a member of the International Childbirth Education Association, attended sessions on parent-infant bonding, unique obstetrical situations, family-centered maternity care, and sexuality in the childbearing year. She also previewed several childbirth films and purchased new books for the local childbirth class library.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Documentaries on TV claim to re-create actual events. But they occasionally are accused of distorting history to heighten drama, of offering surmise as 100-proof fact.

Worried about this and the growth of docu-drama as a form of evening entertainment programming, CBS-TV chief Robert Wussler has taken an unusual step with a planned TV movie, "Four Days in Dallas."

He says CBS News will review it for accuracy.
"Dallas," about the 1963 slaying of President John F. Kennedy, traces the last days of accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald and of club owner Jack Ruby, who fatally shot Oswald after JFK's death.

Wussler, who during a 15-year stint as a CBS News producer helped prepare reports on Kennedy's assassination, says CBS News won't be asked to say if the show should or shouldn't air.

But he says if there's any doubt about the film's accuracy, its broadcast — scheduled for next spring — will be delayed and corrections made, or it will be postponed indefinitely.

He said "Dallas" is based on large part on the Warren Report, which found that Oswald acted alone in killing Kennedy.

But he said involving CBS News in a review of this basically entertainment project wasn't prompted by fears of "fairness time" demands from critics who dispute the report's findings.

"No, it was not," he said by phone from New York. "It was prompted by our viewing of docu-dramas of other networks that we felt were major steps toward a revisionist theory of history."

He also said he didn't want children who watch docu-dramas to grow up with an erroneous view of history.

Ask disaster aid for 4 counties

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes asked the Small Business Administration on Thursday to declare that residents and businesses in Sandusky, Portage, Paulding and Shelby counties are eligible for disaster loans.

The four counties suffered damage during storms on June 30. Uninsured losses are estimated to total $1,065,000 in Sandusky County, $35,000 in Portage County, $98,000 in Paulding County and $40,000 in Shelby County.

A disaster declaration by SBA would qualify residents and businesses for low-interest loans. Rhodes' request went to the SBA regional office in Chicago.

New KSU president picketed

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Members of the May Fourth Coalition demonstrating against construction of a new gymnasium annex at Kent State University planned today to picket the school's president-designate.

Dr. Brage Golding, during his visit to the campus. Meanwhile, the arrest of two persons and an incident involving a third, all of them nonstudents, sparked a noisy but peaceful march by the coalition outside campus police headquarters late Thursday.

The marchers allege that campus police are trying to harass them by enforcing what the demonstrators call technical violations of university policy. But a spokesman for the university denied the charge.

About 100 hand-clapping, slogan-shouting demonstrators marched for 15 minutes outside the police station, then dispersed.

Two coalition members were arrested by campus police inside a dormitory closed to students during the summer.

'Lifeline' measure falls to political intrigue

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The 26-year-old sponsor of a defeated bill to provide elderly and handicapped Ohioans with discounts on their winter heating bills plans to incorporate the proposal in a separate bill and return it to the House floor.

Rep. Dennis Eckart, D-18 Euclid, coupled the disclosure Thursday with a stinging attack on House Minority Leader Charles F. Kurfess, who he blamed for blocking reconsideration of the modified "lifeline" bill.

D-89 New Boston, joined in the unusually harsh attack on Kurfess, his Republican counterpart, and Gov. James A. Rhodes urged both sides to resolve their differences and pass a bill.

Rhodes' unsolicited comment on a legislative matter, not before him, was also unusual.

The bill technically died as the House recessed for the weekend, with the passage of three legislative days allowed for reconsideration of defeated measures.

To reconsider, Eckart needed at least three of the Republicans who voted against the bill to sign a petition for a second vote. He had two, one of whom agreed to make the motion, he said, but backed off under pressure from the GOP leadership.

Kurfess' playing politics with the elderly and needy of Ohio smacks as one of the most repugnant moves of a minority leader," Eckart said. "I am confident that the people of Ohio will recognize Charles Kurfess' actions for what they are; a self-proclaimed political minister preaching the gospel for big business."

Riffe, who like Kurfess, R-83 Perrysburg, is eyeing a run for governor, was even sharper in his criticism.

Riffe claimed Kurfess "twisted several of his colleagues arms to prevent a reconsideration vote."

"It was a senseless act. It was an indifferent act," the Democratic leader said. "It was conceived and executed by a political figure and certain of his colleagues whose time has passed."

Kurfess called the barbs "political childishness" and said he had been amenable to a compromise on the legislation.

But he said he had not been approached directly by Riffe or Eckart on the matter of reconsidering the bill.

The parliamentary device that defeated the measure was not planned in advance by the Republican caucus, Kurfess said, but resulted from GOP anger over the "blatant, arrogant attitude" of Riffe in regulating floor debate.

Eckart said the legislation offering a 25 per cent discount for the aged and handicapped on gas or electric bills would be incorporated in a separate measure and returned to the floor.

That apparently is Rhodes' hope.

"Failure to pass legislation in this area will compound the misery of elderly and disabled Ohioans," he said in a statement. "I hope that the House, which defeated one proposal...will agree on legislation to provide relief as soon as possible."

Niehous still alive, newspapers report

CARACUS, Venezuela (AP) — The newspaper El Mundo said Thursday kidnapped Ohio businessman William F. Niehous "is alive and is being held in a guerrilla camp" believed located in eastern Venezuela.

Quoting "unofficial sources," the independent newspaper said the abductors recently had contacted "a relative" of their victim and advised him that Niehous is alive.

El Mundo, which has a wide circulation in this South American country, identified the relative as Ernest Niehous, a cousin to the kidnapped man and a resident of Baltimore, Md.

However, William Niehous' wife,

Donna, contacted in Toledo, said her husband does not have a cousin named Ernest or any relatives living in Baltimore.

According to the newspaper, Niehous' abductors told Ernest that his cousin "is alive and will be freed only after a 15 million Bolivar—about $3.5 million—ransom is paid."

"The money should be in small bills and should be delivered in foreign territory (outside Venezuela)," the newspaper quoted the abductors as saying.

Local authorities could not be reached for comment on the newspaper report, which followed another news story in the morning newspaper, El Nacional, regarding the Niehous abduction.

The two papers have no connection.

In a two-paragraph item, El Nacional, a leading independent newspaper, said that local authorities "have revived the investigation of the Niehous kidnapping" in eastern Venezuela and other parts of the country.

"The government apparently is on to something big," El Nacional quoted a "police source" as saying.

Niehous, 45, of Toledo, Ohio, was seized from his Caracas residence by eight armed men on Feb. 27 last year.

Persons claiming to be the abductors and identifying themselves as members of a small ultra-leftist band called "Revolutionary Command Group, Operation Argimiro Gabaldon" later demanded payment of approximately $3.5 million for the release of their victim.

At the time of the kidnapping, Niehous was local manager of the Toledo-based Owens-Illinois glass manufacturing group.

and a chance of showers will continue tonight and Saturday. Fair weather Sunday and Monday, followed by showers again about Tuesday.

Field Operations — Field work in scattered locations will be interrupted today as showers begin to form ahead of the advancing front. Rainfall amounts will be light in general with a possibility of locally heavy amounts in isolated areas. Most areas will dry quickly Sunday and no delay in returning to the field is expected other than on a local basis, where showers are heavy.

Working Conditions — Very warm and humid conditions will continue today with temperatures in the mid 80s north to low 90s south. Cooler and less humid air will flow across Ohio Saturday and provide better working conditions through Sunday, then warmer again Monday and Tuesday.

Haying and Harvesting — High humidity and threat of rain showers will reduce drying potential at times today. Combining and hay packaging will be possible where moisture content is already nearly ideal, but some areas will experience wetting today and Saturday with good drying on Sunday allowing a return to the field by Monday at the latest.

Spraying — Threat of rain and windy conditions today and Saturday will make uniform applications difficult. The outlook indicates that the period Sunday morning through Monday morning should be excellent spraying weather, with relatively light winds until about midmorning on Monday.

Rainfall may slow farming

Here is the agriculture weather advisory for Ohio provided by the National Weather Service:

A frontal system was moving across Ohio today and was to reach the Ohio River by late today. Showers and thundershowers are expected to develop in association with the front

Dayton plans fluoridation

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The City of Dayton expects to begin fluoridating its water supply on Sept. 1, according to Water Director Walt Farr.

"We are under orders from the Ohio Environmental Protection Agency to add fluoride by then, and the city has signed a consent order saying it will do so," Farr said.

He said all of the necessary equipment has been ordered and will be delivered shortly to be installed by city workers. Some 180 tons of fluoride also has been purchased.

In addition to Dayton, the system provides drinking water to Trotwood, Vandalia, Brookville, part of Greene County and parts of northeastern and northwestern Montgomery County.

A 1969 state law required all local governments to fluoridate water unless residents exempted the community by referendum. Dayton took on vote, and the courts ruled that a 1965 charter amendment, approved by voters, which prohibited fluoridation did not exempt the city from the state law.

'Just get me two runs'—Capilla

HOUSTON (AP) — Still thin from trades and weary from overwork, the Cincinnati Reds' beleaguered pitching staff looks to beag new comer Doug Capilla tonight in the opener of a weekend series with the Houston Astros.

And Capilla is looking for big things from himself.

"Just get me two runs, that's all I ask," Capilla told second baseman Joe Morgan. "All I'm giving Houston is one run."

He is 1-0, with a victory over San Francisco 10 days ago in his first major league start. He is subbing for rookie Paul Moskau who was scheduled to open the series, but is still bothered by a groin injury.

Obtained three weeks ago from St. Louis in the Rawly Eastwick trade, Capilla will be facing another rookie, Floyd Bannister, who is 4-6.

The 25-year-old lefthander hopes to give the Reds bullpen breather after a nightmarish week that saw Cincinnati's pitching staff bombarded for 29 runs in the last four games.

"Someday we're gonna play a 50-49 game with 22 homers," said Manager Sparky Anderson, only half kidding.

The Reds, who have blown leads of 8-1 and 6-0 in the past week, took Thursday off after a 15-13 victory over Atlanta.

Cincinnati is the hottest hitting team in baseball in recent weeks, with a searing .330 team average for the past month. But they have fallen nine games behind the Los Angeles Dodgers after trimming the deficit to six three weeks ago.

Dan Driessen, booed early this season as successor at first base to popular Tony Perez, has been leading the way. Driessen has lifted his average more than 40 points in the last three weeks to .310, while boosting his home run total to 12. He has 56 runs batted in, third behind George Foster and Johnny Bench.

Anderson, who predicted in spring training that Driessen might challenge for the league batting title, takes delight in Driessen's solid performance.

"People won't be saying 'what can Driessen do?' They will be saying 'What will Driessen do?'"

The highlight of the series should come Saturday night when Tom Seaver, 8-4, squares off with former Cincinnati property Joaquin Andujar, 9-4. Both are bidding for spots on the All-Star team.

Saturday's game marks the midway point of the season, and Anderson is looking for better things.

"We will do better the second half," he said. The Reds, noted for their torrid second-half assaults, have won 70 per cent of their games down the stretch in the last five years. This year they may have to win 80 per cent to catch the smooth-running Dodgers.

Brash lefthander opens Houston series

Red-hot Schmidt crashes 25th homer

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Mike Schmidt never has enjoyed playing baseball more — but the same cannot be said of the pitchers he faces.

Schmidt's bat has been a thorn in the side of National League moundsmen of late, and Thursday night he continued to bring more grief to them.

The red-hot Philadelphia Phillies' slugger smashed a three-run homer, leading a 6-4 victory over the New York Mets, and afterwards confessed, "I'm having more fun now than I've ever had in baseball."

Schmidt's euphoria is understandable. He has been on base 22 of his last 26 at-bats and admits: "I'm placing all the pressure on the guy on the mound. I'm hitting. He knows I'm a tough out now."

In other National League games, the Chicago Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 2-0, the San Francisco Giants trimmed the San Diego Padres 5-1 and the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Houston Astros 7-4.

Schmidt socked his homer in the third inning, and Greg Luzinski's single and an error produced the winning runs in the fourth for Philadelphia.

Garry Maddox opened the Phillies' third with a single and took third on Larry Bowa's double. Schmidt then hit his 25th homer of the season, giving the Phillies a 3-0 lead against Nino Espinosa, 4-7.

Cubs 2, Cardinals 0

Rick Reuschel recorded his 12th victory and Larry Bittner smacked his second homer in as many games as Chicago defeated St. Louis. Staked to a first-inning unearned run, Reuschel, who has lost twice, struggled all the way, allowing nine hits, and retired the side in order only twice.

Giants 5, Padres 2

Rookie left-hander Bob Knepper teamed with Randy Moffitt on a five-hitter as San Francisco snapped an eight-game losing streak by beating San Diego.

Knepper, 2-3, had a one-hit shutout until Gene Tenace's double, Bill Almon's single and Mike Champion's double-play grounder produced San Diego's run in the fifth. He allowed five hits through eight innings. Moffitt pitched the ninth.

Dodgers 7, Astros 4

Dusty Baker belted a two-run homer to cap a five-run first inning, leading Los Angeles over Houston. Doug Rau, 9-1, earned his fourth straight victory, but was tagged for 13 hits, including two home runs, in 7-2-3 innings. Charlie Hough preserved the victory with his 19th save.

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — "It's a bit disappointing," said Roger Maltbie, who came from nowhere to lead the British Open Golf Championship at the halfway point. "I expected different weather and a different kind of golf."

In windless conditions — almost unknown on Turnberry's Ailsa links — the 26-year-old bespectacled golfer from San Jose, Calif., who ranks 50th on the U.S. money winners' list, shot a four-under-par 66 Thursday for a two-round total of 137.

He was one shot ahead of U.S. Open champion Hubert Green and three former British Open champions — Lee Trevino, Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson.

Maltbie was not the only American who came to Scotland expecting high winds and felt let down by the strange calm.

"This was going to be an experience for me," Maltbie said. "I wanted to learn the pitch and run shots which I hear so much about from Scotland."

"I know it's a shot I would not be very good at. But instead we are playing the kind of golf we get in America. I've only played four or five real pitch and run shots the whole time I've been here."

The rare good weather produced sensations. Green holed in one at the 167-yard fourth — the fourth competitive ace of his career. Mark Hayes shot 63 — the lowest round ever recorded in the 117-year history of the British Open and tied for fifth place on 139 with Peter Butler of Britain.

Yet only a dozen men broke par on the 6,875-yard course.

"That is a tribute to the golf course," said Watson. "It is not an easy golf course, even when there is no wind."

The old course record for the British Open was 65, first set by Britain's Henry Cotton at Sandwich in 1934.

Eight players have equalled it since, including Angel Gallardo of Spain, who briefly stole the glory with a 65 Thursday morning. But he had scored 78 on the first day and did not get within striking distance of the leaders.

NICKLAUS LETS IT FLY — Jack Nicklaus drives off the eighth tee at the Ailsa Golf Course during the second round of the British Open. Roger Maltbie has the second round lead while Nicklaus is in a pack with Tom Watson and Lee Trevino, one shot off the pace.

Seaside monster turns pussycat

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP) — Hypnotized by a benign sun and a baby's breath, Ailsa's seaside monster has been turned into a purring pussycat for the British Open.

Not in all the 106 years of its existence has this crochety old golf championship been subjected to such irreverence.

Led by a pack of fairway vandals off the U.S. tour, the hide has been ripped off one of the game's most ancient traditions and spread under a torrid Scottish sun to dry.

Eliminate the uncertainty of the elements and Britain's craggy, rock-ribbed and sanddotted links are no more perilous than the pleasant municipal courses weekend duffers tackle back in the States.

Turnberry's Ailsa Course this week makes Breckinridge Park in San Antonio, where Mike Souchak and others shot 60 without taking a hitch in their breeches, look like a jungle obstacle course.

For all the challenges imposed, the 1977 British Championship could be the Tallahassee Open or the Dekalb County weekly turkey shoot.

A journeyman pro who had never won one of the normal tour events, John Schroeder, went out on the first day and beat the course to death with a four-under-par 66. Seven others were in the 60s.

On Thursday, a mild-mannered young man named Mark Hayes, never a serious threat to Jack Nicklaus and Tom Watson, shot the lowest round ever in the championship with a 63. He should have had a 62, cutting three strokes off the tournament record set by Henry Cotton in 1934 and since tied by others, but he got careless and bogeyed the final hole.

Thus Mark Hayes shot a round that such immortals as Harry Vardon, Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen, Ben Hogan and Arnold Palmer could never touch. Hubert Green also was heading for a 63 or better when he went to sleep on the closing holes.

Why the low scores? No wind and rain.

The British Open traditionally is the pawn of the weather. Cold blasts sweep in off the sea. Gusts reach 70 miles an hour. Fickle, swirling winds turn the most perfectly grooved shots into disasters.

But this year, instead of the capricious gusts, Turnberry got weather as calm and humid as a summer afternoon in Miami.

There were many red faces among the blue-coated committeemen of the Royal and Ancient, but Keith MacKenzie, secretary of that ruling body of British Golf, presented a stiff upper lip.

"It doesn't bother us a bloody bit," snapped MacKenzie, a massive, imposing man with a pencil mustache. "We don't have the same philosophy as the USGA (U.S. Golf Association)."

"The USGA gets offended when scores are low in its Open Championship and goes to any extreme to toughen the course. Our feeling is that it's the same for everybody. If the weather is good, as now, let them play it as it is."

The USGA has set a score of 280 as its standard for the Open. It is happy when that mark is unbroken. It gets fidgety when its toughened layouts yield lower scores.

Drug test OK sought by hospital

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A license to test the controversial drug sodium valproate (SV), an anticonvulsant used for epileptics, is being sought by Columbus Children's Hospital.

Dr. Earl S. Sherard Jr., hospital chief of neurology, is readying a proposal to the Food and Drug Administration this week for the license. If approved, Columbus Children's would become the first community hospital in the country to experiment with the drug.

Later this month Dr. Sherard plans to go to Birmingham, England, to discuss SV with the leading expert, Dr. Peter Jeavons.

Sherard's FDA proposal will outline a test period of 18 months to two years, he said. He would test it first with young patients whose epileptic seizures have not been controlled by any available therapy. Then, "I would start using it as the first drug."

The only present SV study is being done by the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md.

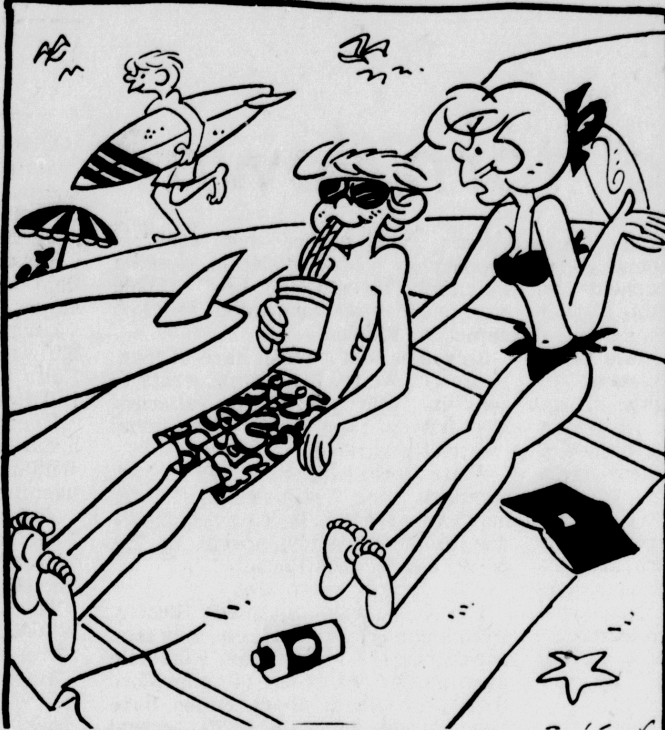

Abbott Laboratories has been licensed to investigate the drug since 1974, but SV is not expected to be available to U.S. patients for at least two more years.

"There is little or no doubt this is probably the drug of choice in generalized epilepsy," Sherard said. "It's been around since 1971, and is in use in England, France, South America and Canada."

Jobless claims drop slightly

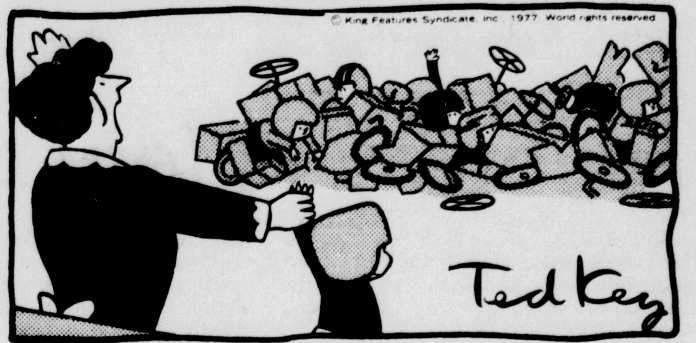

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A total of 116,089 jobless Ohioans filed claims for unemployment compensation during the week ending July 2, the Bureau of Employment Services said Thursday. That was a .2 of a per cent drop from the previous week.

HEY, MA, NO HANDS
NEW YORK (AP) — Walt Michaels, the new coach of the New York Jets, was a line-backer in his playing days. He retired in 1961 but came back for one game in 1963. Michaels, then an assistant coach with the Jets, was pressed into service in the season opener against Boston because of injuries to the regular linebackers.

"I played the whole game without getting hurt," Walt recalled. "But one of the officials kept warning me that he was going to call holding on me if I didn't stop grabbing the tight end."

"I kept telling him that it only looked like holding," Michaels added, "and I got away with it."

Ohio Perspective

Highway safety act torn down?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Drafters of Ohio's 1968 omnibus highway safety act say they are disturbed that the legislature is going "soft" and easing some of its key provisions.

Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, a six-term veteran of the House, has made the charge each time that body has passed a bill he claims carries Ohio "in the wrong direction."

Thus far, the House has approved and sent the Senate bills letting judges decide whether to impose the currently mandated three-day jail term for drunk driving on first offenders, requiring the marking of police cars equipped with radar, and more recently, repealing Ohio's compulsory motorcycle helmet law, with certain exceptions.

"There is a definite move in the legislature to go soft and erode the omnibus highway safety act, which has been one of the most effective in the nation," Norris says.

Norris, whose hometown in northern Franklin County claims to be the birthplace of prohibition, said he was especially chagrined about the three-day jail term measure, although it was sponsored by a fellow Republican, Rep. Thomas A. Pottenger, R-20 Cincinnati.

Pottenger, a former judge, points out that many Ohio judges, for years, have used discretion in imposing the mandatory sentence. A recent Ohio Supreme Court decision upheld the authority of judges to substitute alcohol treatment programs.

The other measures likewise raise questions that are not partisan in nature. Constitutional rights of individuals are cited by those supporting the helmet repealer, over objections of the highway safety department which claims helmets save lives.

Rep. Harry C. Malott, D-87 Mount Orab, offered the bill to require radar vehicles to be marked as such, and also to have a flashing light mounted on their tops. Malott said he introduced the bill at the request of constituents who felt some communities are using radar to run speed traps.

The name city solicitor sounds more like a "door-to-door peddler" than a law director, Sen. Jerome Stano, D-24

Parma, said earlier this week in support of The legislation, making solicitors "directors of law" passed easily and was forwarded to Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Now that that's taken care of, Sen. Walter L. White, R-12 Lima, wants to see the title prosecuting attorney changed to the more traditional "district attorney."

White recalled that a bill to accomplish the name-change was defeated more than 20 years ago, partly due to an opposition speech by his predecessor in the House.

The legislature returned Tuesday from a holiday weekend, but they took one extra day's respite from a favorite pastime—introduction of bills. More than 1,300 pieces of legislation have been introduced in the 112th General Assembly. But none was Tuesday, in a rare occurrence.

'Trash bag' victim list rises

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The bones of a person believed to be another "trash bag" murder victim have been unearthed behind a house once occupied by the two avowed homosexuals who are charged in two murders and under investigation in 26 others.

The skeleton was found Thursday at a Culver City house.

One of the defendants, Patrick Kearney, provided information that led authorities to the lot, said sheriff's Lt. Ed Douglas. The triplex building where the two men lived from 1968 to 1970 is on a quiet residential street behind a movie studio that once housed Desilu Productions and is now Culver City Productions.

"This appears to be the first of the murders," Douglas said. "We believe this was the first residence in which they (Kearney and his co-defendant, David Hill) lived together."

Kearney, 37, and Hill, 34, surrendered in Riverside last week and were arraigned on charges of murdering Arturo Marquez, 24, of Oxnard and John LaMay, 17, of El Segundo.

Authorities said Kearney identified the dead man only as George and said he had been fatally shot. Sheriff's deputies said the person whose remains were found had been shot through the head.

Neighbors who lived several doors away while the two men supposedly were there said they did not know Kearney or Hill.

With Thursday's discovery, the two men have been linked with 11 uncovered bodies. Some of the victims were found dismembered in trash bags.

Water flow below normal

WASHINGTON (AP) — The flow of water in 70 per cent of the nation's rivers and streams was less than normal in June, the U.S. Geological Survey said.

But improvement was noted in drought conditions in Oregon and Washington where streamflows averaged up to double normal in June.

"It was the driest June on record for 10 index streams in 10 states," said Carroll Saboe, chief of the survey's Current Water Conditions Group.

But that was an improvement over May, when a record 22 low streamflows was set, although the area of the country with deficient streamflow increased in June.

Streamflow decreased in much of the East and Southeast.

Of 159 index stations in the nation, streamflows were deficient in 97, Saboe said. Only 10 were above normal.

"Average flow of the Big Five in June dropped to about 572 gallons a day, about 41 per cent below normal and 123 billion gallons a day less than in May," Saboe said.

The Big Five rivers are the Mississippi, Missouri, St. Lawrence, Columbia and Ohio.

Hard-hitting newscaster

CINCINNATI (AP) — You could call Al Schottlekotte a hard-hitting newsmen.

The 5-foot-7, 50-year-old television anchorman punched a shouting intruder during a live newscast Wednesday night, then calmly continued the telecast.

Schottlekotte, of WCPO Television in Cincinnati, was seated in front of the cameras when a young man dashed into the newsroom and headed toward the veteran newsmen.

Schottlekotte saw him approach the set, turned off his microphone as a filmed report on a fire began, then slugged the man, knocking him to the floor. The scuffle was not seen by viewers, although there was 15 seconds of dead airtime.

The man, described as in his early 20s, ran out of the building after being slugged.

Schottlekotte said he struck the man because "he was intruding." He added that he used his fist "because that was the best weapon I had at the moment to deal with it."

Robert Gordon, general manager of the station, said security is being tightened to prevent a repeat of the incident.

JUVENILE COURT

Four Fayette County juveniles admitted to breaking and entering Eber Junior High School in May during hearings in Fayette County Juvenile Court.

A 12-year-old and 13-year-old were placed on probation and their parents were assessed $13 court costs on two counts of breaking and entering.

Two other youths, ages 13 and 11, were placed on probation and their parents were assessed court costs of $13 on three counts of breaking and entering.

The breaking and entering incidents reportedly occurred May 7, 11 and 12.

Lake Erie drilling opposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A bill introduced to permit drilling for oil and gas in Lake Erie has been turned upside down by an amendment which would extend the current moratorium for two years.

"Drilling in Lake Erie will only delay the state from finding a more permanent solution to the energy problem," said Rep. Robert Boggs, D-97 Jefferson, sponsor of the committee amendment. "It poses grave environmental questions that have not yet been satisfactorily answered by those who favor drilling."

The Senate-approved bill had already been watered down in the upper chamber to limit drilling to three test wells for gas only, before expiration of the present ban on July 1, 1978.

Rep. Dale Locker, D-80 Anna, said he would schedule a vote on the amended bill next week in his House Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee.

Locker, who opposed the Boggs amendment, said supporters of drilling would probably try to alter the bill on the House floor or in a joint conference committee.

But Boggs is expected to draw some support for his position from environmentalists; a separate bill to continue the ban is pending in the Senate.

"The relatively small amount of energy located under Lake Erie is not worth the risks that are associated in obtaining it," the Ashtabula County lawmaker said.
